

KEVIN REEM
Writer/Producer/Director

Website: www.reemvision.com

Kevin Reem has been in the film and entertainment business for more than 25 years, beginning in the production department at Walt Disney Imagineering. He worked his way up the Disney corporate ladder, becoming a Manager of Production as well as a video producer in four of Disney's major divisions: Walt Disney Imagineering, The Disney Channel, Disney Home Entertainment and Disney.com.

Reem left Disney to create a production company, Magic Window Productions, that he oversaw for seven years creating movie trailers, marketing, and original television content as a writer/director/producer.

Reem was later hired as a producer for Soundelux/The Hollywood Edge. He then started his own production company, Reemvision Entertainment Inc. During this period, he was contracted almost exclusively by Sparkhill Productions, directing, producing, and writing DVD bonus material content for all the major studios.

He re-created a new multi-media production company under the same name, Reemvision Entertainment, and is currently producing and directing a documentary feature. He recently completed a VR short film and wrote three feature scripts with a partner and a travel TV series entitled "Travel Latte."

Reem is a member of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and the Producers Guild of America. He holds a BFA degree in communication and film from Pacific Lutheran University. He has been honored with the Houston Film Festival Silver and Bronze awards and won Bronze awards at the Columbus International Film and Video Festival. Most recently, Reem also received the Telly Award, the Hermes Award, and was honored as the Who's Who Professional of the Year.

His credit list tops 300 projects.